Dear Parents and Teachers

About Reading Rods

Reading Rods are interlocking, color-coded manipulatives designed to supplement your phonics and reading program. They are the perfect tactile addition to your literacy lessons, and they can only be linked from left to right to reinforce the direction of reading and writing. Children of all reading and writing abilities enjoy linking the brightly colored, lightweight Reading Rods together to learn letters, spell words, and construct sentences.

Reading Rods are color-coded, so as children move from Phonemic Awareness lessons to Word Families lessons on to Word Building lessons, they will easily identify letter categories based on the Rod color alone. For example, individual consonant letter Rods are always blue, while vowel letter Rods are always red. Consonant blend and digraph rods are always green, and the Simple Sentences Reading Rods feature their own color-coded system designed to represent different parts of speech and punctuation marks.

Reading Rods Simple Sentences Activity Book

With the 30 lessons in this book, children practice working with the Rods and begin to develop reading skills. Each lesson serves as a written activity to allow you to assess children’s understanding and growth. The topics are presented sequentially, so each lesson builds on prior knowledge while laying new foundations for learning to come.

As children work through these Reading Rods activities, they will begin to develop pre-reading and emergent reading skills and concepts, including the following:

- Learning about parts of speech and verb usage
- Understanding print concepts and word relationships
- Learning about basic sentence patterns
- Reviewing correct punctuation
- Learning about synonyms, antonyms, and homophones

Enjoy using hands-on Reading Rods and the lessons in this book to reinforce reading instruction in your home or classroom!
